

Tarah T. Colaizy, MD, MPH
Professor of Pediatrics, Stead Family Department of Pediatrics
University of Iowa

Tarah Colaizy, MD, MPH, attended medical school at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Madison, WI, followed by Pediatric residency and Neonatology fellowship at Oregon Health & Sciences University in Portland, OR. She became a member of the faculty of the University of Iowa in 2014, and currently holds the rank of Professor with Tenure. Dr. Colaizy is an active critical care clinician and teacher. She has an active research program in breastfeeding, growth, and neurodevelopmental outcomes of preterm infants fed donor human milk, as well as outcomes of periviable infants. She serves as the alternate PI for the Iowa center of the NICHD Neonatal Research Network. She also serves as medical director of the Mother's Milk Bank of Iowa, and as the Research Director for the Human Milk Banking Association of North America.