

Girija Natarajan, MD
Professor
Central Michigan University College of Medicine

Dr. Natarajan is a board-certified neonatologist, who completed her pediatric training in New Delhi, India and Detroit, Michigan. She is the Chief of the Division of Neonatology at Children's Hospital of Michigan and Hutzel Women's Hospital. She has a special interest in research on neonatal brain injury as well as follow-up outcomes of high-risk neonates. She participates in several multicenter collaborative research and quality improvement efforts to improve NICU care.