

Scott Sutherland, MD
Division Chief, Pediatric Nephrology
Lucille Packard Children's Hospital
Stanford Children's Health

Dr. Scott Sutherland is the Division Chief of Pediatric Nephrology at Lucille Packard Children's Hospital and Stanford Children's Health. His clinical and research interests focus on acute kidney injury (AKI), intensive care nephrology, and continuous renal replacement therapy (CRRT). In particular, his research activities aim at analyzing and improving our approach to the identification of AKI events and more effectively describing AKI epidemiology in children.