

Pnina Weiss, MD, MHPE
Vice Chair for Education
Department of Pediatrics
Yale School of Medicine

Pnina Weiss, MD, MHPE, is Professor and Vice Chair for Education in the Department of Pediatrics at the Yale School of Medicine. She received her medical degree from Case Western Reserve School of Medicine. She completed her pediatric residency and fellowships in Pediatric Critical Care, Pulmonology and Sleep Medicine at Yale and her Masters in Health Professions Education at University of Michigan.

Dr. Weiss has a strong interest in faculty development and advocacy for subspecialty and pulmonology program directors and training programs. Her research focuses on fellowship training including assessment using entrustable professional activities (EPAs), scholarly activity training, recruitment and funding. She currently serves on the Council of Pediatric Subspecialties and the Association of Pediatric Program Directors (APPD) Vice Chair Executive Committees. She is also on the Steering Committee for the Subspecialty Pediatrics Investigator Network and the advisory board for the APPD Longitudinal Educational Assessment Research Network (LEARN). She serves as editor of the American Academy of Pediatrics PREP Pulmonology Self-Assessment.