

Jae H. Kim, MD, PhD

Perinatal Institute Co-Director
Division Director of Neonatology
Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center

Dr. Kim is the Co-Director of the Perinatal Institute, Division Director of Neonatology at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center (CCHMC), and Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine. He has diverse areas of interest that include neonatal nutrition, neonatal bowel injury and rehabilitation, point-of-care ultrasound (POCUS), resuscitation and patient centered research. He oversees clinical and translational research in the Perinatal Institute and has participated in a wide array of clinical and translational activities including investigator initiated, multicenter, quality, and industry sponsored work. He is the alternate PI for the NICHD Neonatal Research Network site at CCHMC. He is a past member of the Committee on Nutrition for the American Academy of Pediatrics.