

Philippe S. Friedlich, MD, MS Epi, MBA

Teresa and Byron Pollitt Family Chair in Fetal & Neonatal Medicine
Professor of Pediatrics & Surgery, USC Keck School of Medicine
Co-Director, Fetal and Neonatal Institute
Chief, Division of Neonatology, Children's Hospital Los Angeles

Dr. Philippe Friedlich is a Professor of Pediatrics and Surgery at the University of Southern California. Dr. Friedlich is the Director of the Fetal and Neonatal Institute & Chief, Division of Neonatology at Children's Hospital Los Angeles. Dr. Friedlich holds the Teresa and Byron Pollitt Family Chair in Fetal & Neonatal Medicine aimed at supporting perinatal and neonatal healthcare delivery and outcomes research.

Dr. Friedlich earned his medical degree from the University of Southern California and completed his pediatric residency and internship at the Children's Hospital Los Angeles. He completed a fellowship in neonatal and perinatal medicine at the University of Southern California Women's and Children's Hospital before joining the faculty of the USC division of Neonatal Medicine in 1998. Dr. Friedlich completed in 2004 a Master of Science in Applied Biostatistics and Epidemiology from the University of Southern California and earned an MBA in Medical Management from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst in 2006.