

Tomas Havranek, MD, FAAP

Professor of Pediatrics

SUNY Stony Brook, Renaissance School of Medicine

Tomas Havranek, MD, FAAP, is Professor of Pediatrics at SUNY Stony Brook, Renaissance School of Medicine. He received his MD degree from Charles' University in Prague, Czech Republic, followed by pediatric residency training at The Long Island College Hospital/SUNY Downstate in Brooklyn, N.Y. After completion of neonatal-perinatal fellowship program at Children's National Medical Center/George Washington University he practiced as academic neonatologist at USF Tampa, St. Louis University, AECOM/Montefiore and SUNY Stony Brook Children's Hospital, assuming different leadership roles in the field of neonatology. Dr. Havranek is a long-standing member of AAP and SPR, regular PAS meeting participant with contributions to a variety of PAS events and SPR committees. He enjoyed being part of the Pediatrics in Review editorial board over the last 9 years and in addition to his administrative responsibilities he remains active in the neonatal clinical research area.